

RUSSELL CITY

By María Ochoa and Hayward Area Historical Society

Between 1853 and 1964, on the western shore of what is now the city of Hayward, there existed a small rural community. This pictorial history traces the role of this region, which became known as Russell City. Russell City later became a destination point for diverse immigrant groups including Spaniards, Danes, Germans, Italians, African Americans, and Mexicans. While never wealthy, the residents enjoyed many social and cultural riches. A plan to create an industrial park on Russell City land emerged during the 1950s. By 1964 the residents and businesses were entirely removed through eminent domain.

Available September 2, 2009
Reserve your copy TODAY!

• Required Information •

Choose one:

 Pick-up

 Ship to you

Name: _____

Address: _____

City/State/Zip Code: _____

Phone Number: _____

E-mail(optional): _____

QTY   X $21.99=_____ (+)
Pre-Order Discount* 15% = _____ (-)
Sales Tax (9.75%) = _____ (+)
Shipping (see box below)= _____ (=)
Total Due _____

Select Payment Method: (Required for preorder. Check or Credit Card only.)
 Visa, MasterCard or Discover accepted.

_____ Check (Please make payable to HAHS.)
 _____ Credit Card (Please enter information below.)

Credit Card Number: _____
 CCV (3 digit code on back): _____ Exp Date: _____

Name on Card: _____ Billing Zip Code: _____

Shipping Cost:
1 – 2 books add: $3.00
3 – 4 books add: $5.00
5 – 6 books add: $7.00
6 + books please call

Please mail, fax or return this form and payment to: Hayward Area Historical Society ATTN: Carrie Santell, Museum Store Manager, 22701 Main Street, Hayward, CA 94541 (510-581-0223 / 510-581-0217 fax)

*HAHS members regularly receive a 10% discount. The additional 5% is our “Thank You” for purchasing the book from us! Offer expires Sept. 12, 2009. We will verify the computation of funds due and contact you if any errors occurred.